2 Did the organization undertake any significant program services during the year which were not listed on the prior Form 990 or 990-EZ? [] Yes [X] No If "Yes," describe these new services on Schedule O.

3 Did the organization cease conducting, or make significant changes in how it conducts, any program services? [] Yes [X] No If "Yes," describe these changes on Schedule O.

4 Describe the organization's program service accomplishments for each of its three largest program services, as measured by expenses. For 11 years, GBCA has managed a free online portfolio used by 800 to 1,000 to help area artists create and maintain a current collection of their work. In many cases, artists use the Portfolios for their primary website. To date, the associated Baker Artist Awards have recognized over 100 artists and awarded over $1million to individuals living and working in the region. Ahead of its time, the Portfolios has created an online community of artists that is visited by curators, collectors, museum leaders, philanthropic visionaries, and others in almost every country in the world. Universities and colleges use the site as a primer for students being introduced to the diversity of cultural production in Baltimore and in order to develop relationships and projects throughout the academic year and beyond. The Awards include a

(Revenue $) For nearly a decade, Urban Arts Leadership (UAL) has been the flagship program of the Greater Baltimore Cultural Alliance's equity and inclusion efforts. UAL serves as a career pipeline for emerging leaders from backgrounds that are underrepresented, particularly those of color, in the cultural workforce. Having deep experience in developing and operating UAL, GBCA is uniquely positioned to respond to the current economic and social upheavals exacerbated by the COVID 19 pandemic and the protests following the death of George Floyd and others at the hands of police. Working to address systemic barriers to equity in the cultural workforce, the program also focuses on tools and training for participating host cultural organizations aimed at strengthening their ability to successfully recruit, hire, and retain a

4c (Code:) (Expenses $ 101,374. including grants of $) (Revenue $) Over the past 18 years, GBCA has refined its role as a wayfinder and primary source of information for the cultural community. Through its regional events calendar, Culture Fly is the most comprehensive source of events and now virtual experiences. The site is easy to use and highly searchable by interest, geography, discipline, and more. It includes a weekly newsletter to 16,000 subscribers, Culture Flyer, that promotes a wide offering of free and half priced events. Because GBCA already had this infrastructure, as soon as the pandemic was declared organizations were quickly able to begin promoting online events. And because of the increased needs for learning at home and well-being resources, those categories were quickly added to the search options. Just prior to the pandemic, the Culture Fly site had 103,000 views

The provisions included in accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America provide consistent guidance for the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in an entity's financial statements and prescribe a threshold of "more likely than not" for recognition of tax positions taken or expected to be taken in a tax return.

GBCA performed an evaluation of uncertain tax positions as of December 31, 2020, and determined that there were no matters that would require recognition in the financial statements or which may have any effect on GBCA received its first-ever grant from the National Endowment for the Arts to deepen the work of the UAL. Its purpose was to develop a groundbreaking Field School working with folklorists to replicate ethical practices for community engagement. The first phase of this project, Beauty Beneath the Blight, focused on the stories of Pennsylvania Avenue in Baltimore City. Skills developed by Fellows through the Field School are replicable and carried with each into their respective placements and throughout their careers. Partners for this initiative include The Library of Congress and the Smithsonian Institute Folklife Center.

Importantly, over the past seven years UAL alumni have launched exciting careers and are putting their commitment to justice and their training to work. Organizations who have benefited by hiring alumni
