BALTIMORE, Maryland — Tuesday, December 4: Iron Crow Theatre announced today that April Forrer, former Managing Director of Baltimore Shakespeare Factory, will join Iron Crow Theatre as Managing Director, reporting directly to the Board of Directors.

The theatre also announced River Hansen, who served previously as Company Coordinator and most recently as Interim Managing Director, has been appointed the theatre's first General Manager, reporting to both the Managing and Artistic Directors.

"April has extensive experience working with growing theatre companies and nonprofit organizations, including serving as the Director of Operations for the Boys & Girls Clubs of Annapolis and Anne Arundel County," said Dr. Frank Golom, President of Iron Crow Theatre's Board of Directors. "The Board is ecstatic that she has chosen to share her expertise and her talents with us. I look forward to everyone at Iron Crow Theatre, from volunteer staff to artists to members of the community, continuing to grow and learn under her leadership."

"I am honored and thrilled to be joining the Iron Crow Theatre family," said Ms. Forrer. "I am excited about our planned growth and our increased community commitment. I consider myself very lucky to be part of a theatre so committed to becoming something more and so dedicated to telling the stories of those not told often enough."
